

Pick a Color, Any Color.

North Country slates are available in a wide variety of colors. Slates of various color, size and thickness are frequently blended together to create truly unique multi-colored or graduated roofs. There's a selection to match virtually any design aesthetic you could wish for. Take the time to review all the options available with your architect.

Unfading Green is a classic. One of our most popular roofing slates, it can be used alone or as one of the blended colors in a multi-colored roof.

Unfading Purple exudes beauty, and for this reason, is a favorite of architects and owners for custom homes. It is often blended with other slates to create multi-colored roofs.

Unfading Black offers a traditional, elegant roof for both new homes and restoration projects. This smooth, rich black slate has a slight luster that has earned the admiration of architects and homeowners alike.

Semi-Weathering Gray/Black (Strata Gray) is a premium quality roofing slate of varying shades of gray with numerous inclusions of black and dark gray. A small percentage of these slates will weather to tones of brown and buff over time.

Semi-Weathering (Vermont) Gray exhibits a rich battleship color with a percentage of brown earth tones over time. It makes a popular roof covering alone, or in combination with other slates to create a multi-colored roof.

Unfading Mottled Purple & Green produces a dramatic roof created by the subtle variations of the two contrasting colors present in each slate. Easily recognized, it features varying shades of purple with cloud-like shades of green appearing randomly here and there.

Semi-Weathering Purple presents a range from dark burgundy to plum red with frequent inclusions of green. A percentage of these slates will exhibit color weathering changes to buffs and tans over time.

Semi-Weathering (Sea) Green yields a percentage of gentle earth tone colors over time. Brown and buff slates appear here and there as a charming variation against a background of green.

Semi-Weathering Vermont Black slate features shades of gray and black in a stripe-like pattern. It is one of the most common slate colors and is used extensively across North America.

Multi-Colored
A blend of slate colors can be supplied to create a truly unique roof. North Country offers design suggestions on color, size, thickness and installation techniques which will produce a spectacular custom roof.

Unfading Gray offers a background of light gray with inclusions of darker gray and black markings. These darker markings add color and texture to the appearance of the roof.

Beauty, Above All.

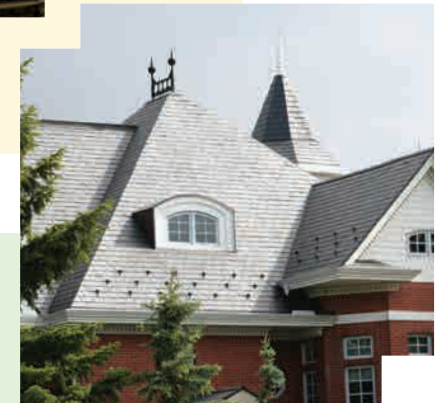

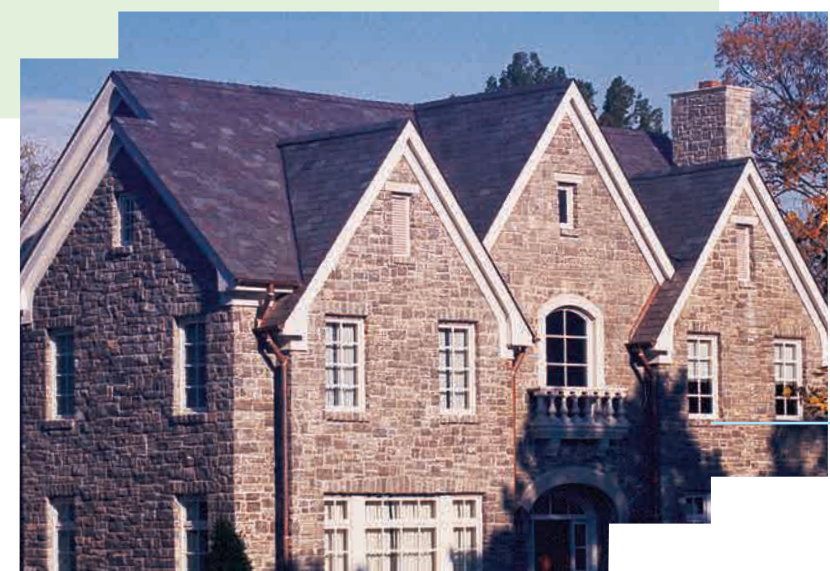

It's no accident that some of the most graceful buildings in the world have as their crowning glory an inspiring slate roof. Countless churches, universities, and sprawling mansions all owe their majesty, in part, to the enduring elegance of this remarkable material.

When it comes to the design of your own home, nothing matches the exceptional appearance of a beautiful slate roof.

It telegraphs your sense of sophistication, it offers the reassurance of the values of a simpler time and it adds value to your home that will withstand all the tests of nature.

The design options available with North Country slate are as individual as you are. Slate makes the traditional seem legendary, the modern seem forward-looking. With the help of your architect, you can create the pièce de résistance for your new home with a natural slate roof.

Through this brochure you will see how people like you have chosen to add luster to their homes. Discuss the possibilities with your architect; you'll reap the benefits for the rest of your life.

Rugged, Durable, Timeless.

Created by nature over 500 million years ago, natural roofing slate has been sheltering man from the elements for more than a thousand years. Today, it continues to be the roof of choice for the world's most prestigious and treasured buildings.

North Country roofing slate can serve your home effectively for a century and beyond. It requires very little maintenance, and because it is so durable, it is resistant to chemical pollutants and acid rain. Natural slate is non-combustible and fireproof. It withstands freezing and thawing without flinching— and ice and snow are no threat to it. What's more, it's the most environmentally friendly roofing material available today.

High quality North Country roofing slates come in a wide variety of shapes, colors and sizes; so while the material is inflexible in the face of nature's challenges, it is extremely flexible in its applications. The only limit is your own imagination.
